Last year's event was a resounding success, at this very pleasant venue, so if you are free on the 2nd of July and wish to join us please see Janet Akehurst on the book stall to reserve your place. A £5 deposit is required when booking and as places are limited they will be allotted on first come first served basis.

Shortlands House Group

The next meetings of the Shortlands House Group will be held on

- Thursday the 13th June 2019 (2pm-4pm)

The meetings are held at 97 Hayes Lane, Beckenham, BR3 6RN which can be reached directly via the 162 bus or with a short walk via the 358 bus.

New members are very welcome to attend on a permanent basis or on a one off basis when the subject matter is of particular interest; all we ask is that you advise us on shortlandshg@nwkhfs.org.uk or call 020 8650 7941

For our June meeting we have all been charged with bringing along one of our treasured family artefacts and to explain its significance in our family.

However if you would like to come along and continue to look into your 'Brick walls' you are welcome to come along and we shall have a separate help desk available to you.

• Society of Genealogists Events in June

The Society of Genealogists in London hosts a number of lectures/workshops and visits each month and organises visits to archives and the like. Two examples of over a dozen courses they are offering in June are:-

Saturday, 8 June 10:15-17:15 - Reading and Understanding Italian Genealogical Records

In this half-day workshop with Lynn Serafinn, you will learn how to interpret and translate information found in Italian genealogical records. A practical, hands-on session, you will work from print-outs of a wide variety of records spanning nearly four centuries, from the mid-1500s to the early 20th century.

cost 20.00/16.00 SoG Members

Saturday, 8 June 14:00-17:00 - Don't Believe everything you're Told and Documenting your Family History

This course will consist of two talks:

Don't believe everything you're told! (Problem solving and how we can get over the Brick Walls)

What type of problems can occur, why they may occur and how we can get over them?

The lecturer will discuss the many false leads we can be given from the common documents relating to vital events in our ancestor's lives. She will show researchers how errors come to be made and how we can get over some of those 'brick walls'.

Documenting your family history Or 'How to get all your stuff organised!'

Jane will discuss the basic principles and importance of good record keeping. Looking at the different ways of documenting, organising and presenting your findings, she will discuss sources types, primary, secondary, questionable! Why should we record our sources, what is a reference, citation etc?

A half-day course with Jane Fox, cost 20.00/16.00 SoG members

A copy of the full list of events offered in June 2019 is available for inspection on the Help Desk together with a few copies for Members who may have an interest in attending these events. The events are available to members and non-members of the Society of Genealogists.

Findmypast to Introduce Tree-to-Tree Hinting

In common with other Commercial Genealogy sites, from July 1, the deceased ancestors in family trees posted on Findmypast will be considered as 'shareable' hints unless the owner of the tree opts out.

Findmypast advise that they will send the deceased ancestors in members' trees to other Findmypast members who might share common ancestry.

Findmypast advise that they assume any relatives born more than 110 years ago are deceased, and regard them as shareable ancestors, however they won't share any information on anyone who's still alive.

Findmypast further advise that information on your deceased ancestors will include:

- Timelines
- Facts and events, together with sources and attached records
- Notes

The full details of this change can be viewed at:
