Today's Photo

No one sent in a photo this time so I am using a photo of a great uncle I never knew. Mark Sydney G SAYLE born in Wandsworth in 1905 and died in a motorbike accident in Reigate aged just 22 in 1928.

If anyone is researching the Sayle surname I would love to hear from you as, although I know Mark's father was George Albert Edward Sayle b circa 1875 (according to his age on censuses etc), I cannot trace his birth for certain.

The full names George Albert Edward SAYLE are taken from his marriage certificate.

He may have been born in Sandringham, Norfolk, England or Portsea, Hampshire, England. Father may have been George or John. On his daughter Mildred's birth certificate he is called 'George Albert SAYLE' and on Mildred's marriage cert his names are stated as 'George Thomas Albert SAYLE'.

Occupation is always stayed along the lines of farrier, horse trader

The only birth certificate I have found for the right approximate age is in Portsea Island a district of Southampton; for a boy George Albert Edward SAYLE born 10 June 1875 at 55 Lucknow Street, Fratton. Mother stated as Elizabeth Mary SAYLE formerly PORTER and father as John SAYLE.

In the 1901 census George Sayle states his birthplace was Sandringham, Norfolk.

So I am unable to trace any further back. I have been told by a family member that George's grandson Ronald has traced the Sayle line back to William Sayle, first governor of South Carolina in 1670.

<https://www.carolana.com/Carolina/Governors/wsayle.html>

But Ronald died in 2000 and I cannot trace any family member willing to talk to me about his research (if it still exists) except the one who told me this but has not got the paperwork. Did Ronald make some assumptions or have documentary evidence?

The amazing thing is I found this out in 2015 just before - for the first time in my life - I had booked a holiday to .... South Carolina! It certainly added interest to my trip to visit the places associated with my possible ancestor. I have also seen, at the National Archives at Kew, letters sent back to England from these settlers in the 1660s.

Whilst I would love to hear from anyone researching SAYLE in case we can pool info, SAYLE is a very common surname on the Isle of Man with also some in Norfolk. I should probably concentrate on Norfolk as George claimed in one census to have been born in Sandringham. I have no reason to believe I am connected with the Isle of Man Sayles except possibly many, many generations ago.

PS While it's hardly best practice to write on the front of a photo, without that it would be pure guesswork who this was.

Don't want to read any more about my ancestors? Send me a photo and story about yours instead!

Saturday 19 October Speaker at Bromley 10.30am

Meryl Catty and Maureen Binks will present An Enumerator's Tale

Census returns are a vital resource for genealogists. But how reliable are they?

For census purposes, enumeration districts of about 200 households were drawn up, which an enumerator was considered capable of visiting in a day.

Enumerators first delivered a Householder's Schedule with instructions as to how it should be completed. The head of the household was required by law to complete the form on census night detailing all those persons who were sleeping in the house that night.

The enumerator returned to collect the Householder's Schedule. However a fully complete, accurate census return depended on many things:- the ability of the head of the household to read and write; the instructions being understood, particularly regarding night workers or those away from home; the readability of the handwriting; the cooperativeness of the head - just like now there were those who did not regard this as the government's business. Some people wished to exaggerate their job seniority, pretend to be married etc. All this could have the poor enumerators pulling their hair out.

Meryl and Maureen will tell us in a very amusing way of the difficulties encountered by enumerators.

Doors open 9.45am, meeting starts 10.30am. The venue, Bromley Methodist Church, College Road, Bromley BR1 3NS has a free car park (although this can fill up) and is close to Bromley North Station and is on or near many bus routes.

Visitors are welcome and are invited to make a donation towards the hall and speaker costs. Returning visitors attending more than one meeting are asked to join the Society (£10 per calendar year)

Vacancy For Bromley Branch Programme Secretary

Lynne Overton has, as yet, had no enquiries from people wanting to discuss what would be involved in taking over her role, nor from volunteers who would like to take it on. Accordingly, she is asking once again for any interested parties to get in touch with her, so that she can outline exactly what is involved.

She has been asked if someone who is not a regular Bromley attendee could organise the programme, and the answer to that is, "of course", as the Bromley Committee would undertake to help set up equipment, greet the speaker, offer the introduction, and give the vote of thanks.

Another approach would be that two friends could work together on the programme, talking over likely speakers, and co-ordinating their efforts so that the onus of sourcing, contacting, confirming etc would be shared between them.

Lynne has built up a file of contacts, lists of sources for discovering likely speakers, spreadsheets of past speakers to Bromley Branch, and blank spreadsheets to be filled in for the Executive Committee and the Journal, and all this information, including a file of past correspondence will be handed over to the new incumbent(s). If you know Lynne, you will know that she is always willing to support anyone who needs it, and will make herself available for assistance and advice if required.

Please contact her, either at a Bromley meeting, or by e-mail: programme.nwkhfbromley@virginmedia.com

Saturday 2 November Speaker at Dartford 10.30am Guest speaker Ian Porter will talk about The Real Downton Abbey

What it was really like to be in domestic service?

The TV series paints a fairly rosy picture of service. This tells you what servants' lives and jobs were really like.

Novelist, historian and London walks guide, Ian Porter, has his own walks company in London for which he guides all 35 walks. He does many talks, mostly specialising in 19th and early 20th century history.. He loves Downton Abbey and one of his great grandparents was a servant so he has done lots of research into the subject of servants.

Doors open 9.45am, meeting starts 10.30am. The venue, Dartford Science and Technology College, Heath Lane, Dartford DA1 2LY, has a large, free car park via the Heath Lane entrance.

Visitors are welcome and are invited to make a donation towards the hall and speaker costs. Returning visitors attending more than one meeting are asked to join the Society (£10 per calendar year).

Dartford Science and Technology College asks: due to having a pupil with a severe allergic reaction to nuts and aerosols, we have had to ban these two items to ensure the pupil's safety. Please do not bring any products that are aerosol based, or foods which may contain nuts, onto site. I do hope that you all will understand the importance of this request, and we thank you for your understanding.

Alan Williams will talk about 'cradle to grave - creating the welfare state in Forties Britain'

Much of what we think of as the modern welfare state, for example the National Health Service, Social Security and a commitment to full employment, has its recent origins in World War Two and was created in the late 1940s.

In this talk Alan will explore the background to the creation of the welfare state and why the war acted as an agent of such significant policy change.

Saturday 16 November Speaker at Bromley 10.30am

Dean Caston will speak about the History of the Royal Variety Performance

Dean will talk to us about the first Royal Command performance in 1912 through to the current day.

The first Royal Variety Show was instigated by Sir Edward Moss through correspondence with George V and was to be a royal variety show at the Empire theatre, Edinburgh, in 1911 to celebrate the King's coronation. Unfortunately, before this could happen the theatre caught fire and Sir Moss died.

Sir Alfred Butt took over and the show took place at the Palace theatre in London during 1912. This was known as the Royal Command Performance and monies raised went to the Royal Variety charity. The charity still benefits from the show. George V became its patron – as has every subsequent monarch, although our present Queen hasn't attended since 2014, leaving it to other high-ranking members of the Royal family to stand in for her.

During the 107-year history of the Royal Variety Performance it has been held in seven cities, with the London Palladium hosting the event 42 times. There were several years when the show did not take place, mainly due to the World Wars. The show was first televised in 1960 with many watching it during those early years of its broadcast.

Doors open 9.45am, meeting starts 10.30am. The venue, Bromley Methodist Church, College Road, Bromley BR1 3NS has a free car park (although this can fill up) and is close to Bromley North Station and is on or near many bus routes.

Visitors are welcome and are invited to make a donation towards the hall and speaker costs. Returning visitors attending more than one meeting are asked to join the Society (£10 per calendar year)
